

Appendix 3C: Energy Model

1.1 Basic Requirements:

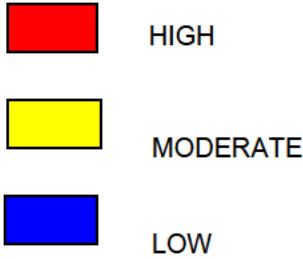

- 1.1.1 The New Infrastructure will be Designed to meet the LEED requirements set out in Section 3.4 [Sustainable Design] and Schedule 2 [Design and Construction Protocols].
- 1.1.2 Compliance will be demonstrated through building energy simulation using one of the eligible energy modelling software.
- 1.1.3 The building energy performance will be compared to either of the two following building standards: MNECB 1997 or ASHRAE/IESNA 90.1-2007 (with errata but without addenda) including Appendix G.
- 1.1.4 The energy model scope is to cover the New Infrastructure (excluding only the upgraded and expanded Food Services Area and laundry facilities). The Upgraded Infrastructure, Non-Upgraded Infrastructure and the upgraded and expanded Food Services Area and laundry facilities comprising part of the New Infrastructure are to be excluded from the model.

1.2 Performance Criteria:

- 1.2.1 A single energy modelling software will be used at all stages of Design and certification process.
- 1.2.2 Additional supplementary software tools such as RETScreen can be used in conjunction with one of the eligible energy modelling software tools.
- 1.2.3 Eligible energy modelling software tools are the following:
 - 1.2.3.1 EE4
 - 1.2.3.2 eQUEST
 - 1.2.3.2 DOE-2
 - 1.2.3.4 IES Virtual Environment
 - 1.2.3.4 Hourly Analysis Program (HAP)
 - 1.2.3.4 Trace 700
- 1.2.4 The energy model will only include all loads as required by ASRAE/IESNA 90.1-2007 (with errata but without addenda) including Appendix G and as described in LEED Canada 2009 for New Construction.

Partitions containing windows or doors may not meet the NIC requirements of Table 1 (above) as they will be limited by the STC of the applicable windows or doors specified in this Schedule 3 [Design and Construction Specifications].

Where not restricted by security concerns, FSTC of doors in the following spaces where high speech privacy is critical are not to compromise overall NIC provided between spaces:

- Interview;
- Disciplinary;

- Hearing;
- Video Court Rooms.

Where security concerns restrict the STC provided by doors, door FSTCs are to be maximized.

11.5.3.1 Noise from building services which is discontinuous, tonal, or impulsive and can be perceived within various spaces will be reduced at least 5 dB below the specified background noise levels in Table 2.

11.5.3.2 Design room surface finishes to achieve Noise Criterion (NC) recommended by ANSI S12.2 as specified in Table 2:
